MINING INDUSTRY PRIMER

Inform and engage your employees with an interactive mining industry-focused curriculum specifically designed to enhance workplace interactions and promote professional development without ever having to leave the office.

Covered topics range from exploration to reclamation with a focus on foundational industry knowledge in these areas. Programs utilize a remote learning environment with real-time interactions between participants and SD Mines faculty and industry professionals. No need to spend a week in a hotel conference room incurring lost production and costs associated with travel. Sessions are recorded if unable to attend live. Cost is $4000 per person.

Each participant will complete assignments focused on reinforcing industry topics and encouraging problem solving with scenario-based questions. Participants will also receive a copy of the Mining Industry Primer Resource Guide. Registration is open – click here!
